

Excellence in emergency care

Methodist Mansfield named Level III Advanced Trauma Facility

In late January, the Texas Department of State Health Services designated Methodist Mansfield Medical Center as a Level III Advanced Trauma Facility. As a Level III Trauma Center, Methodist Mansfield has the equipment, specialized resources, and specially trained trauma team to care for critically injured patients 24 hours a day. Additionally, Methodist Mansfield consistently ranks in the 90th percentile for patient satisfaction by Press Ganey and was honored as the Best Emergency Department and Best Hospital by Arlington Today and Living Magazine readers.

NEW PRESIDENT AT METHODIST MANSFIELD

Methodist Health System named Juan Fresquez the new president of Methodist Mansfield in mid-March. No stranger to DFW, he began his career at Parkland Hospital in Dallas and has more than 28 years of acute care hospital management experience.

“I am so proud to lead a team of employees who are top-decile performers for engagement and physicians who have achieved high patient satisfaction in the 90th percentile (and 95th percentile for the Emergency Department), great clinical outcomes, and an award-winning reputation in the communities we serve,” Fresquez says.

award-winning reputation in the communities we serve,” Fresquez says.

Growing to serve you

Construction reached the halfway point with a topping-out ceremony in July for Methodist Midlothian. The new, 190,000-square-foot, full-service acute care hospital and 45,000-square-foot medical office building are being built west of U.S. 287 near the Midlothian ISD multipurpose stadium and scheduled to open in fall 2020.

Methodist Mansfield celebrated the grand opening of the Professional Office Building (POB) II. The 82,000-square-foot building is four stories of professional office building space with primary, specialty, and hospital services.

New technology and procedures

Methodist Mansfield began offering these new procedures and technologies:

The electrophysiology lab staff and Aamir Amin, MD, on the hospital medical staff, performed Methodist Mansfield’s first Micra™ implant (the world’s tiniest pacemaker).

- Spinraza: lumbar injection helps restore mobility in spinal muscular atrophy
- Bravo™: catheter-free reflux testing system
- Capsule endoscopy: wireless camera in a capsule is swallowed to investigate digestive bleeds
- Cryoablation for atrial fibrillation: minimally invasive heart procedure using extreme cold to destroy tissue
- Endoscopic ultrasound: obtains images and information about the digestive tract and surrounding tissue and organs
- Fecal bacteriotherapy: restoring the digestive tract bacteria with an infusion from a donor
- High-resolution manometry: advanced measurement of the gastrointestinal tract
- Linx: minimally invasive implantation of a small titanium device with magnetic cores to prevent reflux

David Woodward plays cards with his interventional radiologist Alvin Anene, MD, on the medical staff at Methodist Mansfield. However, he insists that he’s already a winner. Since beginning Spinraza injections, he’s regained movements he thought he’d lost for good.

Methodist Mansfield Medical Center, a designated Magnet® hospital, has earned The Joint Commission’s Gold Seal of Approval® as an accredited hospital as well as a chest pain center and stroke center, to name a few.
