More than 100 community leaders attend an open house for the new Methodist Mansfield Wound Care and Hyperbaric Center.

Methodist Mansfield Medical Center is adapting and growing to meet patient needs with advanced technology and compassionate, quality care. We’re proud to share some highlights from 2013:

Healing wounds faster than ever. Methodist Mansfield Wound Care and Hyperbaric Center is committed to healing chronic wounds with specialized outpatient care for patients with chronic, nonhealing wounds that show little or no sign of improvement with standard treatment. The center is also home to a hyperbaric oxygen therapy chamber, effective in painlessly treating hard-to-heal wounds.

Joint Academy in session. The Methodist Joint Academy at Methodist Mansfield helps joint replacement patients have a speedy recovery by providing education about the joint replacement process before, during, and after surgery.

Single-Site™ with the da Vinci® Surgical System. With this robotic procedure, gallbladder removal is easier than ever, requiring only one tiny incision. Patients experience minimal discomfort and scarring and rave about their fast recoveries.

Construction of two new operating rooms. Two new $6.5 million operating rooms are underway to offer the latest in communication and equipment for heart and da Vinci robotic procedures.

Expanded primary care services. Four new Methodist Family Health Centers and Medical Groups opened throughout the Metroplex, including one in Waxahachie. A Mansfield North clinic is planned for 2014.

A brighter and safer future for North Texans

Methodist Health System Foundation presented its 2013 Robert S. Folsom Leadership Award to Rev. Mark Craig, former senior pastor at Highland Park United Methodist Church.

An event honoring Craig raised $1.5 million toward the new Charles A. Sammons Tower at Methodist Dallas Medical Center. The services offered in this tower will benefit all North Texans in need of emergency, trauma, or neurocritical care.
